6:30pm

Deworming Cattle on Pasture – Dr. Tim Nickel

Dr. Nickel is the Technical Services Veterinarian with Boehringer Ingleheim and will be talking about the rewards of having an effective deworming strategy for all animals on the farm.

To Ship or Not to Ship – 1 year later...are cull cows getting any better?

KVC's Dr. Rebecca Cornell will provide an update on what she has been seeing over the past year at the sales barn with respect to cull cows. Transportation of lame or sick cattle is a serious welfare concern and we must continue to be diligent in making the right choices at the time of culling.

It won't hurt at all – an update on pain management strategies

KVC's Dr. Katharine Found will provide a review of the new codes of practice for pain control at the time of dehorning and castration which are changing again in January 2018. But pain control is not just for castration and dehorning – learn how these products can benefit your cattle all year-round.

Kindly RSVP to the clinic by November 16th
